Foreign Intelligence.

PARIS, September 3.

The following particulars of the last actions in Switzerland are given as authentic in the Journal de Paris.

"The division of the Valais, commanded by general Thureau, having under his orders generals Jardon and Jacobin, first cut off the enemy's communication between his camp of Lax and the Simplon, by the hardy manœuvre of carrying the post of Rosenwald. It afterwards occupied the Simplon, forced the camp of Lax, and ascended the Rhone to its source. This division took 1,800 prisoners and 3 cannon.

"General Lecourbe, seconded by the generals of brigade, Gudin, Loison, and Boivin, disposed his attack in the following manner: general Boivin had orders to proceed against Schwitz: he defeated the enemy under general Massena's eyes, who was present at this attack, and took Schwitz. Gen. Gudin had orders to ascend the valley of the Aar: he carried the posts of the Crimsel, and of Mount la Fourche, with the bayonet, and afterwards marched against Urseren: he took 500 prisoners. General Loison was charged to penetrate into the valley of Urseren, by Wasen.

"A small fort, covered on the one side by the torrent of Meyen, and on the other by steep rocks, defended by 400 men and 2 cannon, shut the entrance to the road, which was only a foot way. Gen. Loison forced the passage, took the two cannon, and 300 prisoners. Another attack was to be made on the lake of Lucerne and Altorf. Gen. Lecourbe took charge of it himself: he overthrew the enemy, carried all his positions on the lake, took Altorf, and then marched against Wasen: after having made, on this point, his junction with Gen. Loison, he pursued the enemy as far as the Devil's Bridge, which he found cut down. He was repairing this bridge, when the brigade of Gen. Gudin, coming from Urseren, appeared on the other border; there the union of the three brigades of that brave division was effected. Lecourbe then attacked the enemy who covered the passage into the Grison country: he completed his defeat, and pursued him as far as Dissentis.

"The division Chabran, commanded by the general of that name and the generals Humbert and Laval, was directed against the important posts of Wolran and Insiedlen. Repulsed several times, it at length, by a bold manœuvre, turned the enemy's left flank and forced him to retreat. A column of 2000 Austrians was cut off and taken prisoners.

"During these operations, the divisions of Lorge and Sault formed a feigned attack on Zurich. They carried off from the enemy his great guards. Finally, the enemy thought that our movements on our right had weakened our left, and in order to attack it, he attempted the passage of the Aar. He was repulsed by the 5th division of the army of the Danube, and some Tyrolians were taken prisoners.

"General Oudinot, chief of the general staff was wounded in the shoulder, in the attack of Schwitz.

"The results of these glorious actions have been already published."

The offices of the department of foreign affairs are, it is said, to undergo an entire reform.

BOMBAY, June 29.

On Sunday last arrived the ship Upton Castle, capt. Pavin, from the Straits of Babelmandel in 11 days, having left at the island of Perim, the ships Jahangeer, Hercules and Stambole.

Letters from Perim of the 9th and 11th inst. mention that they had not then succeeded in finding water on the island, altho' they had dug to a considerable depth, and that they were still supplied from the Main with that necessary article, which of course was served out in a stated allowance to each individual; the intense heat subjected them to occasional inconvenience on this account, the Thermometer being often at 104, and seldom under 96 in the tents on shore: they got no poultry, but goats and sheep in abundance altho' dear.

Letters of the 6th June from Mocha are also received by this opportunity, mentioning that they had no late intelligence from Egypt. The Centurion and Albatross had been off Suez in the beginning of May, where by the accounts which reached them the French had about 800 men, but no craft excepting a two masted vessel which was destroyed by the Centurion's boats, in spite of the endeavours which the French also exerted in a few small boats armed to prevent it. The Centurion arrived at Mocha from Suez, last from Juddah on the 6th June, and the Albatross was left cruizing off Suez. The squadron are well supplied with beef, mutton, &c. and the natives are to all appearance well disposed towards the English. Capt. Wilson set off on the 5th on an embassy to the Imaun of Senna.—This gentleman is, by all accounts from that quarter, in high favour with the governor and all the great men of Mocha; and his hospitality has rendered him very popular with the many visitors of his own nation, whose duty has lately called him to that place. It was thought that the Leopard would leave the Red Sea in August, and proceed to this place for repair. The Eliza of this port arrived at Juddah on the 19th of May.

On Thursday the 27th inst. anchored in the harbour, the ship Rainha dos Anjos, capt. Francis Gonsalves de Lima, from the house of Messrs. Joseph Gomes Loureiro and Co. of Lisbon, manned with 115 Europeans and 20 Artillery soldiers. Left Lisbon on the 19th of November, 1798, Rio Janeiro on the 19th of February, Cape of Good Hope on the 8th of April, and lastly from Mosambique the 3d instant, has had an excellent passage without meeting any ships, &c. Her cargo consists of different Lisbon and Port Wines, a small quantity of paper, elephants teeth, and sundry other articles, having sold a part of her cargo at Mosambique and the Brazils, and what is now remaining is intended for Goa and Damaun; she is only coming here owing to the Monsoon, and intends continuing her voyage to Damaun and Goa as soon as the weather admits.

We hear by letters from Cannanore, that it was gen. Stuart's intention to proceed to the Presidency if the Admiral could spare a ship for that purpose, to whom the general had made an application. No answer had been returned when our letters came away, but as the weather was uncommonly fine and moderate, and the admiral was known to be cruizing off Declah when the general wrote, it was expected that the admiral would, if possible comply with his request.

These letters add, that lieutenaut-colonel Wiseman, with a brigade of Seapoys, was preparing to march for the Canary country to take possession of Declah, Mangalore, and a few other posts before the rains set in violently—and that gen. Hartley was expected to move with the rest of the army to take complete possession as soon as the season would admit. It was reported that the inhabitants of that part of the country had expressed a desire to be under the protection of the English government; and they were ready to receive our troops and deliver up the country to them.

We are happy in commemmorating the following instance of the most exalted courage in a humble individual, and although his merit will never be emblazoned in the herald's page, the contempt of danger and death in the cause of his country, which is so conspicuous in Serjeant Graham's conduct, ranks him in the first class of military heroes, and we must sincerely lament his untimely fall.

Extract of a letter from Cannanore, dated the 27th May, 1799.

"The forlorn hope was lead by a serjeant of the light company of the Bombay European regiment, who volunteered his services on the occasion. His name was Graham. He ran forward to examine the breach, and mounting it he pulled off his hat, and with three cheers called out success to lieutenant Graham (alluded to his having a commission if he survived) on which he rejoined his party, and remounted with them with the colours in his hand; upon reaching the rampart, he stuck the color staff in it, exclaiming, d—m 'em I'll shew them the British flag, and was at that instant shot through the head—dying like a hero as he was. I am sorry to say he has left a European widow and five children to lament his fate."

At the time of the fall of the capital, and the death of the Sultaun, an immense convoy consisting of the six regiments of cavalry, Montgomery's corps, all the Nizam's horse to the amount of near 10,000, a detachment of the Nizam's infantry, and about 12 thousand European and Native infantry with 48 guns, having near one hundred thousand Brinjaries under their escort were on their way to the grand camp and about 60 miles distant. Cummer Odeen was lodging them with the greatest part of Tippoo's horse and a body of infantry with 20 guns, but retreated instantly on hearing of his master's death, which it is remarkable he was informed of it on the night ensuing, viz. the night of the 4th May. It has been discovered by Tippoo's papers, that the political courage which dictated the late magnanimous measures, and the success which has crowned the splendid atchievements of those who were charged with the execution of them, have secured the British affairs in this country, from intrigues which, under any other circumstances than those of the present brilliant æra, would have excited great alarm. Circumstanced however as we are, the perfidious author of all mouldering in the dust, all his counsellors and generals led in the captivity, and all the treasures of his metropolis at the disposal of the conquerors, this discovery only serves as an additional justification of the war, which was notoriously as just as it was necessary on the original grounds stated in the proclamation of the right honourable the governor general of the 22d February last, issued in the Province of Malabar, of which a copy is hereunto subjoined, as transcribed from the official document published there preparatory to the march of the grand army.

On the 17th May the late Sultan's horses, elephants and camels were delivered over in Purnea's tent to lieutenant colonels Close and Dallas, and captains Macauly and Montgomery, the stable horsemen attending their new masters, with all submission and obedience! 3120 horses were reckoned on this occasion, 99 elephants and 175 camels, and the late sultan's private property; a body of Jaghire horse estimated at 12,000, were ordered to their respective villages, where they remained peaceable subjects by the latest accounts, and in all probability will remain so, excepting they are wanted for offensive operations by our government.

Colonel Read, of the Madras establishment, was employed about the middle and towards the latter end of May, putting garrisons into Hoolindrong, Ootradroog, Sawandroog and Schwagunga; these were garrisoned when our present accounts left Sawandroog on the 23d ultimo: on the 24th a party was to be sent to Bangalore, and it was expected the colonel would afterwards move to Oolcottah and Nundedroog, from thence to Sera, and probably to Chittledroog with the same view.

Colonel Read has been appointed Collector General of all the conquered countries, and had appointed Captains Macleod, Munro, and Graham to different collectorships, to which important trust these gentlemen have been recommended by their knowledge of the country language, it having been determined to make that an indispensable qualification for offices of that nature. We understand this is not only perfectly consonant to the sentiments of the Hon. the Court of Directors, but conformable to their orders, who have wisely judged that whatever advantages are derivable to the company as sovereign, or to the natives as their subjects, will be best ensured by the immediate agency of their European servants; and as a proof how highly this attainment is estimated, we understand Mr. Hurdis, a gentleman of the Madras establishment of scarcely seven years standing, has been appointed to the sub-collectorship of Dindigul with the whole of the newly acquired districts of Caroor and Coimbatoor.

LE MIROIR.

In Monday's paper, will be found the addreſs of the Republicans of the City and County, the anſwer to which appeared on Friday laſt.

This addreſs being diſtinguiſhable principally for its ignorance and effrontery, I ſhould think it unworthy my notice, but for the reinforcement it brings to an opinion I have long entertained, that a deſign is on foot to ſubvert the Confederate Government, and to refound on its ruins the State Supremacies,—in other words, to bring back "the days of ſeventy-ſix;"—and that the ſuppoſed competency of the Chief Juſtice to forward or effect their deſigns was a principal motive with the Democratic Faction to elect him.

Obſerve the laſt paragraph of this addreſs: "on you, (they tell their Chieftain) not only the eyes of Republican Pennſylvania, but the eyes of the Republicans throughout the Union are fixed." As each State is actually, by the amendments to the Conſtitution, and by general conſent and underſtanding, free, ſovereign and independent, it is impoſſible the Republicans of any other ſtate, much leſs of every other, ſhould have their eyes fixed on the Governor of this, unleſs in the caſe of ſome ultra-revolutionary project, in which their ſupport is already intereſted and ſecured. I defy any man to account for the ſingular phenomenon theſe Republicans relate, upon any other hypotheſis. At the word "fixed," is a comma, and they proceed with declaring—"on you a momentous trust has devolved, which engages all their attentions and affections." Fas eſt et ab hoſte doceri—we may ſurely believe our enemy, when he announces his own crimes: The attentions and affections of all the Republicans (they mean) throughout the Union, are engaged on the momentous trust which has devolved upon Mr. M'Kean! Now, every one knows, that an office which could be adminiſtered nine years, by Thomas Mifflin, cannot be a very momentous trust; unleſs, indeed, the Governor overleap his bounds, and employ the powers intended for the good government of the State, to weaken or ſubvert the general œconomy. To this point I wiſh to direct the ſerious attention of the reader, as well as to what follows; "Contemplating, as you do, the preſent awful criſis in human affairs; poſſeſed as you are of the capacity and MEANS to give efficacy to a juſt and honorable POLITICAL PRINCIPLE, &c. &c. the only wiſh that we have now to add is, that you may have health and life continued to you by a kind Providence, to aid in the perpetuation of the liberty and happineſs of the people." Having worked us up (in the phrenzy of their imaginations) into an awful criſis, (which ſaid awful criſis, it is difficult to perceive, unleſs they allude to the reſult of their own machinations, they proceed to flatter him on the capacity and the MEANS he poſſeſſes (in his momentous truſt) of giving a turn to that criſis, by the eſtabliſhment of a new POLITICAL PRINCIPLE, (alluding no doubt to the Simple Democracy of Seventy-Six) or to ſomething worſe.

By the natural conſtruction of this addreſs, it is not uncharitable to infer, that the Republicans elected the Democratic Judge, for the purpoſe of exalting the State Government on the ruin of the Conſtitution of the United States; and that it really conveyed this meaning to the Judge, from the turn he endeavors to give the ſubject, as if alarmed at the raſhneſs with which they expreſs themſelves. He affectedly repudiates ſuch views, by ludicrouſly declaring, that "he truſts they entertain a hope that under his adminiſtration, our preſent happy ſyſtem of government will be continued inviolate. Wary rebuke! bold reſolution cloaked by affected tergiverſation! But men of ſtrong paſſions with great difficulty conceal what is uppermoſt in their minds and before he gets through even his ſhort addreſs, he lets ſlip the deadly ſecret, by denouncing the officers and dependants of the Government of the United States, (its friends and ſupporters meaning) not inly in Pennſylvania, but other States, as impediments in his way—as a coalition to impede his progreſs. Thoſe ſhort-ſighted Federaliſts who have advocated a conciliation; who have even gone ſo far as to propoſe, that Mr. Hollingſworth, and the reſt of Mr. Roſs's committee ſhould wait on him, and offer their countenance and ſupport, may now, tho' ſome of them are even aged, and very wiſe, learn a leſſon ſtill older than themſelves,—nunquam ſuccessu crescit HONESTUM.

I ſhall forbear remarking further on what is too plain to require elucidation or enlargement; but cannot cloſe this paper without a reflection or two on the line of policy dictated to us by theſe machinations of our enemies.

It being clearly in the view of the French faction, to overthrow the Federal government and the Federal conſtitution, and theſe deſigns being at length, ripe for execution, it becomes our policy, to bend with united force, our mental and corporeal energies to the protection and defence of thoſe bulwarks of our liberties and our happineſs; in ſhort, to borrow an abuſed figure, to rally round our Conſtitution and our Laws. Our enemies, who with all the vices, are alike endowed with the impudence of Belial, accuſe us of hoſtile deſigns towards thoſe ramparts of our faith, only the more ſecurely to carry on their inſidious attacks; and the audacious reproach has awed not a few into ſilence. But it is an unbending temper we muſt now call into life and action:—this conſpiracy has pervaded the continent; et toto certatum est corpore reipublicæ.

The Federal Conſtitution will be deemed unworthy of a ſtruggle, by few of its well-diſpoſed ſubjects. If we could redeem it to the ſtate in which it was tranſmitted to us by the convention, it would indeed preſent a more worthy object to our labors; but as it is, it is our all—and when that all is conſpired againſt, who is there ſo torpid as to leave it to its fate! That it has been frittered away by amendments, tho' contrary to its letter and ſpirit, and its ſubordinate coeſtates have been erected into independent ſovereignties is well known; but it may yet be redeemed and built up to a more entire and perfect organization—by firmneſs and organization.

COMMUNICATION.

When it was aſcertained to a certainty, that M'Kean had gained his election—the jacobins of Pennſylvania, invoked their opponents through the channel of the United Iriſh preſs, to bear their defeat with magnanimity and to ſubmit to the will of the majority. They did more—They expreſſed a wiſh to be reſtrained by law from practiſing hereafter, the ſame baſe and flagitious means by which they had ſecured their preſent victory! The friends of Mr. Roſs were not deceived by this affectation of a return to the paths of honor and rectitude—they knew their opponents dreaded an enquiry into their proceedings at the election, and they alſo knew, that the moſt hardened offenders had been ever ready to promiſe amendment in order to obtain forgiveneſs.

The apprehenſions of detection, however, were ſoon made to yield to fears of far greater magnitude. Whilſt the jacobins were plying the billows of ſedition to form the molten calf, they had no leiſure to calculate on the chances of being loſers at all events:—in ſhort it did not occur to them until the reſult of the election was known—that the new governor might poſſibly be inclined to keep better company than the old judge. It was determined therefore without delay, to draw from the man * their choice, a declaration of his political creed, which they flattered themſelves would produce an irreparable breach between him and the friends of the unſucceſsful candidate. With this view, the ſociety held a meeting in their den, and appointed a committee to prepare an addreſs ſuitable to the occaſion—The anſwer exceeded their moſt ſanguine hopes, and with the addreſs, may be ranked among the few inſtances in which men have had the effrontery to boaſt of their triumphs over the cauſe of virtue.

If a ſtranger was to form an opinion of the nature of our government, from the language of the anſwer, he would conclude it to be monarchical, and that force had been uſed to exclude the heir apparent from the throne—He certainly could never dream, that in the democratic ſtate of Pennſylvania, any man in his ſober ſenſes, would have the temerity to claim an excluſive right to the chief magiſtracy, and to denounce the moſt virtuous, enlightened and wealthy part of the community, for reſiſting his unfounded pretenſions—The fact however is ſo, and what is now held to be a great miſdemeanor, will no doubt, at a future election, be conſtrued into high treaſon.

NEW SOCIETY

For propagating the political goſpel.

A gentleman, travelling through New Jerſey, was aſked by an honeſt countryman if he could tell when our new miſſionaries would ſail for France. The word miſſionaries ſimply and ludicrouſly employed, inſtead of that of envoys, excited, however, ſome natural ideas in the mind of our traveller. If theſe ſame miſſionaries are ſent out to preach the political goſpel in France, it is pretty clear they are about to exerciſe their function in "the benighted parts of the earth." They are ſent to preach the goſpel to very ſavage tribes, and if they are not, as before, turned out of the wigwam, they may, perhaps, get tomahawked for their pains: or, at leaſt will return with both a box and a flea in their ear.

Flouriſhing ſtate of American Literature.

In many of the Philadelphia and New-York papers we find a paragraph, headed with great pomp, "LITERARY NOTICE." From this ſhewy and promiſing preface, in American gazettes, it might be imagined that from this dull ſomnolency our genius was beginning to rouſe, and look keenly around, and, like the rapid traveller in the nurſery tales, was putting on his "ſeven league boots" to ſtride over the whole region of Science. No, no. Our genius is ſtill aſleep and his patrons are nodding by his bedſide. The "Literary Notice" is not of a hiſtory, written by ſome American Robertſon, nor of Eſſays, like Johnſon's, nor of politics, like Swift's, nor of poems, like Gay's. It relates to certain "Travels," written by the Duke de Liancourt, one of the emigrant French royaliſts, and though ſaid travels are ſtated to have been through many parts of our country, not forgetting Boſton and its agreeable neighbourhood, yet "ſtrange, paſſing ſtrange," theſe travels are to be publiſhed in London. How could the "fiery Duke," who doubtleſs, loves republics and America, dream of omitting to publiſh his book here? How could he be inſenſible of the charms of a ſubſcription paper, and the "dear delights" of a bookſeller's bill? Why did not this noble author try his literary fortune in ſome of our ſmall villages, or our great towns? In the firſt, both the ſelectman and town clerk would have ſubſcribed for his work, and paid him in pork, or grain. In the ſecond, he would have been remunerated with a ſtare, and the generous and jovial wits of Boſton would have given him a dinner, and would not have denied him the cup. Luckleſs printers, patrons, and readers in America, how unfortunate that "Literary Notice" is not addreſſed to you, but to Europe; and that travels through your own country are printed the fam'd land "that's far awa'!"

The Murderous Merlin.

That even the infidel democrat may be taught the frightful nature of the Gallic uſurpation it cannot too often be called to remembrance, that Merlin, of Douay, was long at the head of the nominal republic of France. A man ſpotted with every crime. A ruffian and murderer convict. A highwayman, a pirate, and a thief. Inſolent in power, and abject in misfortune, to him may be juſtly, what CHURCHILL saucily applied to Biſhop WARBURTON.

"A man ſo proud, that ſhould he meet
The twelve Apoſtles in the ſtreet,
He'd turn his noſe up at them all,
And ſpurn his Saviour from the wall.
A man ſo mean, meanneſs and pride
Still go together, ſide by ſide,
That he would creep, would cringe, be civil,
And hold a ſtirrup to the Devil,
If, in a journey to his mind,
He'd let him mount, and ride behind."

The character of the French, acting upon the principles of democracy, was well underſtood by philoſophic obſervers, long before Marat and Robeſpierre played tragedy, before a whole nation. Dr. Johnſon, in his exquiſite imitation of the third ſatire of Juvenal drew their portrait by few, but very ſtrong lines.

"No humble arts the faſting Frenchman ſcape,
He ſings, can dance, clean ſhoes, and cure a cp.
All ſciences a faſting Frenchman knows
And, bid him go to hell, to hell he goes."

A few evenings ſince, as Mr. Abel Humphreys was returning to his houſe in Second near Spruce-ſtreet, he was overtaken by certain ruffians, at a ſhort diſtance from his door. They called out to him "who are you for?" and not receiving anſwer, cried, "we are for M'Kean:" Mr. H. then ſaid, "I am for Roſs;" whereupon he was inſtantly beſet by them all, and after ſuffering much cruelty under their hands, eſcaped into his houſe, ſeized a bar of iron, and ſtill purſued and ſtill aſſailed by them, attempted therewith to defend himſelf. By their joint force, however, it was ſoon wreſted from his hands, and a blow aimed at him with it. On loſing this weapon, he again fled into his houſe, and ſeizing his dragoon ſword, which had an iron ſcabbard, ſtruck at and cracked the ſkull of one of the aſſailants. By this time, the populace had aſſembled, and the mayor, with his accuſtomed vigilance and promptitude, ſoon after haſtened to the ſcene. By theſe means three of the villains were arreſted.

One of the M'Keanites who attacked Mr. Humphreys, proves to be a member of Capt. William Duane's cock necked troops, and the whole three are ſaid to be United Iriſhmen.

The frequent repetition of theſe murderous acts, which it has of late ſo often fallen to our lot to record, muſt fill every peaceable citizen with horror and with dread. The reflections which riſh upon the mind, at ſuch ſanguinary atrocities are too painful, too humiliating for utterance. The band of barbarians by whom they are perpetrated, not content with giving law to the ſtate, appear reſolved to reduce us to the miſerable condition of Helots,

It is reported upon the authority of a gentleman lately from Halifax, that New Orders have been iſſued, directing the Britiſh cruiſers to detain and ſearch all American veſſels notwithſtanding their convoys.

[Boſton Independ. Chron.

By a Paris date of September 1ſt, it appears that the French directory have appointed Fauchet and Adet, ſo well known for the exerciſe of diplomatic ſkill in this country, two of the commiſſioners to reſide at St. Domingo. Adet and Fauchet, on their arrival at the place of their deſtination, will perhaps forward gratulatory addreſſes to citizens Dallas, Lieb and Logan, of Pennſylvania, on the fair proſpect of continuing things as they were, in that State, in conſequence of the election of M'Kean: and it is not impoſſible but Fauchet, in a poſtſcript to the addreſſes, may make ſome new advances on the ſubject of "flour contracts," —or, inquire how many "thouſand dollars" it will be neceſſary to advance for "THE REPUBLIC to decide on peace or civil war" in our country.

PIRACY.

The Ganges has on board three pirates, who ſailed from this port in the ſchooner Eliza, capt. Whelan, for St. Thomas's. After the veſſel had been 10 or 12 days at ſea, theſe three fellows entered into an agreement to murder the Captain, Supercargoe and Mate, with the intent of poſſeſſing themſelves of the veſſel and cargo. They accordingly each ſelected his man and entering the cabbin, one killed the mate and another attacked the Supercargo who ran upon deck and was there mangled in a moſt horrid manner and thrown overboard while yet alive. The third, who had agreed to murder the captain, being leſs courageous than the other two, approached him in a haſty manner, having an axe in one hand and a ſword in the other, and in attempting to ſtrike him with both at the ſame time, fortunately failed in his object, the axe only wounding him ſlightly in the head and the ſword cutting him on the arm.

By this time, capt. W. had ſecured his fire arms, when the fellow inſtantly ran upon deck, where the trio concluded it was beſt to diſpatch one of their meſſmates who would not join them, and then jointly attack the captain. The ſailor, accordingly, ſuffered the fate of the mate and ſupercargo, but the captain maintained his poſt with ſuch intrepid firmneſs, that neither of the three dared venture down to attack him. At length, finding it was impoſſible to effect their purpoſe, they agreed to terms which captain Whelan propoſed to them. Theſe were, that they ſhould ſpare his life, for which he would navigate them to any port they might think proper.

After this, they allowed captain W. perfect liberty, who acted in obedience to their orders until a few days after the affair, when perceiving two of them were in the fore ſcuttle and the other at the helm he ſeized an axe, knocked down the man at the helm, then ran forward drew the hatch over the ſcuttle and faſtened them down by lifting the anchor over the bow and placing it upon the hatch. While he was thus employed, the man, whom, he had knocked down, was recovered and had aſcended the ſhrouds, where he begged for mercy, which, upon being granted, he deſcended and ſuffered himſelf to be tied by Capt. Whelan.

Having ſecured his priſoners, captain Whelan made the beſt of his way for the Weſt Indies, without a ſoul to aid him in working the veſſel, and after 13 days arrived at St. Bartholomews, where his priſoners were delivered to captain Campbell of the Eagle, by whom they were ſent on board the Ganges.

The method which captain W. adopted for ſupplying theſe fellows with water was, by making a hole in the hatch with a crow bar, and pouring in down. They received it by holding open their mouths under the aperture. Fortunately there was plenty of proviſions in the ſcuttle, ſo that he had no occaſion to take off the hatch.

PORTSMOUTH, October 31.

We are credibly informed, that the ſhip Mohawk belonging to Mr. Cutts of the diſtrict of Maine, had been taken by a French privateer ſchooner, by means of ſtratagem uſed by the French cruiſer—the Mohawk mounted 20 nine pounders and the privateer only 12 four-pounders. The Frenchman knowing well his inferiority in point of force, thought it unſafe to hazard a battle, hoiſted American colours and run along ſide, and ſpeaking Engliſh, told the captain of the Mohawk he was a United States veſſel of War, and pointing to ſeveral veſſels then in ſight, ſaid they belonged to his convoy, which afterwards proved his prizes—Finally, after many profeſſions of friendſhip, aſked for a ſupply of proviſions if they could be ſpared without injury to the Mohawk, the captain of which immediately complied ſuppoſing it to be an American—No ſooner than this requeſt was granted, the privateer ran immediately under the Mohawk's quarter and the greateſt of her crew jumped on board and made a prize of the ſhip and cargo—valued at twenty-five thouſand dollars.

NEWBURYPORT, November 1.

Captain Chace, of the Roſe, has returned from Guadalope. His veſſel was taken after an action of two hours and an half, mate and two men killed, 14 wounded; 6 died at Guadaloupe of their wounds. The French privateer had 25 killed and twenty-one wounded.

The jury was ſelected from among the moſt reſpectable characters of the ſtate, who were addreſſed in a charge from judge Waſhington, replete with wiſdom, and characteriſtic of the knowledge, uprightneſs, and independence of the American bench. We ſhould be happy in having it in our power to gratify the public with a peruſal of its contents; but this we are ſorry to ſay cannot be done, as application was made to that effect yeſday, by the grand jury, but the requeſt, for certain reaſons which the judge gave them, was not complied with.

This has given riſe to the ſuppoſition of its being the Aurora; we ſincerely hope it is without foundation.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN,

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE time being fixed on, when the MILITARY LAND (commonly called Knox's) WARRANTS, granted to the United States' army, are to be regiſtered and located,—the ſubſcribers have explored that tract of land on which thoſe warrants are to be laid; with a view, and for the purpoſe of offering their ſervices as locaters.

We take the liberty of ſuggeſting, "that weare at leaſt as well acquainted with the ſituation, quality of the ſoil, &c. of the different townſhips in the aforeſaid tract, as any other perſon:" this will, perhaps, appear more clearly, by obſerving, that WILLIAM C. SCHENK aſſiſted in running the Indian boundary line; at which time he conſiderably traverſed that tract: he alſo aſſiſted in ſurveying and laying it off into townſhips, and at other times ranged over it, to gain information. But to obtain a more complete and accurate knowledge, we have lately ſpent between two and three months, with ſeveral aſſiſtants, in particularly examining the different townſhips and quarter townſhips; by which means we have acquired an accurate knowledge of the whole diſtrict.—We now offer our ſervices to the public, as Locaters, with aſſurances that we will locate every perſons warrants intruſted to us to the beſt advantage, agreeably to their rights of location, which is to be determined according to law. For our ſervices we demand the one equal tenth part, either in lands or warrants, when we locate a full tract, of four thouſand acres or more, for one perſon or firm; the land to be taken in a ſquare, at a corner of the tract; which corner is to be equitably determined before the time of location.—The one equal ſixth part, in caſh or warrants, when we connect and locate any amount leſs than four thouſand acres. We will be in Philadelphia from December next, until after the time of location, to tranſact this buſineſs. Any perſon wiſhing to ſatisfy himſelf farther, will pleaſe to call on us, by letter, (poſtage paid) or otherwiſe; when due attention will be paid, and ſuch vouchers may be ſeen as we have to offer, which we hope will be ſatisfactory.

To the Holders of
MILITARY LAND WARRANTS.

THE Subſcriber having lately returned from viewing the land, ſurveyed and appropriated to ſatisfy the land warrants, iſſued by the ſecretary at war, to the officers and ſoldiers of the late continental army; and having made arrangements with Mr. James Johnſon, of Cheſter county, Pennſylvania, who he left on the land, and who with the aſſiſtance of an intelligent inhabitant of that county, will ſpend five months in exploring the different ſections. He will take regular notes, deſcriptive of the ſoil, ſituation, and natural advantages attached to each ſection in the whole ſurvey—which notes will be placed in the hands of the ſubſcriber previous to the period for locating, thereby enabling him to make the moſt advantageous locations the priority will admit.

He offers his ſervice to the holders of land warrants of the above deſcription, throughout the United States, to receive their warrants, claſs them, (as no leſs quantity than 4000 acres will be regiſterd at the office of the treaſury) have them regiſtered agreeable to law, and attend to make the location at the the time appointed in February next.

For tranſacting the buſineſs, one tenth part of the land ſpecified in the warrants will be required, and no other charge, except the poſtage of letters. All warrants forwarded and letters addreſſed to the ſubſcriber, at No. 3, Penn-ſtreet, Philadelphia, will receive immediate attention.

TERMS
Of Richard Folwell, in Philadelphia,
FOR SUBSCRIBING TO THE JOURNALS OF CONGRESS,
FROM THE COMMENCEMENT
Of the American War, in 1774, to the preſent time,
INCLUDING
The Reports of Heads of Departments, of Committees, and other Official and Private Papers of that Body, now firſt permitted to be made public.

TERMS.

THE work will be printed on a fine paper, and a new neat tipe, in large octavo.

Each volume will contain above 500 pages, neatly bound and lettered.

Uniformity in ſize, paper, and binding, will be obſerved throughout the work; ſo that, while the ſubſcribers become poſſeſſed of a valuable record, an ornament may be added to their libraries.

The price to ſubſcribers will be 2 dolls. 75 cts. per volume, in boards, and 3 dolls. whole bound, but, as the publiſher does not intend to print manmore than the number ſubſcribed for, a conſiderable riſe on the price may be expected to non-ſubſcribers.

Each volume will contain about one third leſs letter-preſs than the original edition; but, as the publiſher is not yet enabled to determine the extent of the Private Journals, which he may be allowed to make public, he cannot aſcertain the number of volumes which will compriſe the work.

☞ Payments to be made on delivery of each volume.

Subſcribers will have it at their option, either to ſubſcribe for the whole of the Journals, up to the preſent time, or to thoſe only of the Old Congreſs prior to the organization of the Federal Government.

IN all countries, the proceedings in the commencement of their governments, are loſt in darkneſs and inſecurity, owing to a careleſsneſs, in the ſucceeding generation, to preſerve the public records, and the attention of the nation, in thoſe rude ages, being called off from their domeſtic concerns, to engage in wars and conqueſt. Of what infinite value would the laws of Alfred be, had they been tranſmitted to our days? Time, that deſtroys every thing, enhances the value of well authenticated public records, and renders them almoſt ineſtimable. It is hoped, that Americans will, therefore, chearfully contribute their aſſiſtance in tranſmitting to poſterity the labours of their anceſtors—founders of the Columbian nation.

 The work will certainly be advanced with expedition and promptitude. The following will ſhow the ſupport it has already acquired:

"Reſpectfully ſheweth,

"That having, in our reſpective avocations, frequent occaſions to recur to the Journals of Congreſs, we experience inconvenience by the ſcarcity of them: That we underſtand that Richard Folwell, printer, of Philadelphia, has had it in contemplation to print that public record; and that he hath obtained partial countenance from many individuals; but that he has delayed proſecuting the work, in expectation of encouragement from government, that may adequately indemnify him. We, therefore, reſpectfully ſolicit, as the publication is neceſſary to be diſſeminated among public bodies, that Congreſs will, in their wiſdom render him ſuch additional encouragement, to that which he has obtained from private individuals, as to enable him to proceed with the work, ſo that your Memorialiſts may be enabled to purchaſe copies of that record for themſelves.

The Swift-Sure,

A NEW LINE OF STAGES,
NOW RUNNING BETWEEN
PHILADELPHIA & NEW-YORK,
By the ſhort and pleaſant road of Buſtleton, Newtown, Scotch Plains, Springfield and Newark.

THE excellence of this road, the populouſneſs of the country through which it paſſes, with ſundry other advantages, which render it ſo far preferable to the Old Road through Briſtol, Brunſwick, &c. long ago ſuggeſted the propriety of its becoming the Grand Thorough-Fare from Philadelphia to New-York. During the preſent year, a minute ſurvey of it has been taken, and its ſuperiority over the Old Road, both in winter and ſummer, has been clearly aſcertained.—There are good bridges over all the other waters but the Delaware, and here the croſſing is performed with great ſafety and in leſs than half the time required at the Trenton Ferry. The road is ſeveral miles ſhorter than the old road, but this is amongſt the leaſt of its advantages, becauſe daily experience proves to us, that diſpatch as well as comfort in travelling principally depend on the goodneſs of the road and the levelneſs of the country, and, in theſe reſpects, the New Road is, beyond all compariſon, the beſt. It preſents none of thoſe rocky hills, which render the Old Road ſo fatiguing between the Delaware and Newark. The ſoil, too, for the greater part, is ſuch as to produce but little mud in winter, and very little duſt in ſummer, which circumſtance, added to the beauty of the country, and a conſiderable proportion of ſhade, muſt always render travelling in the latter ſeaſon peculiarly agreeable.

The Swift Sure ſtarts from PHILADELPHIA, at 6 o'clock every morning (Sundays excepted) from the GREEN TREE, oppoſite the Lutheran Church, North Fourth ſtreet. It goes through Frankford to Buſtleton, where it ſtops to Breakfaſt; from Buſtletown it goes through Newtown to Penny-town to dinner; from Penny-town through Hopewell, Milſtone, Bound-brook, Quibbletown and Plainfield to Scotch Plains to lodge. The next morning it ſtops at Springfield to breakfaſt, from whence it goes through Newark and arrives at New-York at noon.

From NEW-YORK it ſtarts at 3 o'clock in the afternoon (from Paulus Hook) and arrives at Philadelphia the next evening. For ſeats at New-York, application may be made to Edward Barding, Old Coffee houſe, to A. Mathieu, corner of Naſſau and John ſtreets, to B. Many, no. 48, Courtlandt, corner of Greenwich ſtreet, and to Michael Little, at his hotel, no. 42, Broad ſtreet.

Fare for paſſengers, Five Dollars.
Way paſſengers 6 Cents per Mile.

Each paſſenger is allowed to take on 14lbs. of baggage carriage free; but all other baggage, taken on by a paſſenger, will be charged at 4 cents per pound weight.

With reſpect to packages ſent on without paſſengers, the proprietors preſume they have adopted a regulation, which, though unknown to other lines of ſtages, they think muſt meet with general approbation, They pledge themſelves to make good every package on the following conditions. The perſon who delivers the package at the office ſhall ſee it entered in the ſtage-book, for which entry he ſhall pay 6 cents; he will then ſtate the value of the package, and pay (excluſive of the carriage) one per cent. on the value, as inſurance, and for which he will receive a receipt. Thus, for inſtance, if he eſtimates his package at one dollar, he will pay one cent. and if at one hundred dollars, he will pay one dollar inſurance, and in like proportion for packages of any other value.

Very few perſons it is preſumed, will diſlike this regulation; it will however, be optionable with every one to avail himſelf of this ſecurity or not. But the proprietors think it right to ſtate very explicitly, that they will be reſponſible for the ſafe delivery of no package, which is not regularly entered, and for which an inſurance receipt cannot be produced.

In the diſtribution of the route, the greateſt care has bren taken to fix on ſuch places and taverns as always afford a good accommodation and entertainment for the paſſengers at the moſt reaſonable rates The ſtages are well equipped furniſhed with fleet and ſteady horſes, and committed to the care of intelligent ſober and obliging drivers. The proprietors themſelves live at the different towns and villages where the ſtages will ſtop, ſo that the conduct of the perſons they employ is continually an object of their attention.—They take care alſo to ſee that the paſſengers are well provided for and politely treated at the taverns, and that no ſort of chicanery or inſolence is practiſed upon them; in ſhort, they have ſpared neither pains nor expence to render the SWIFT-SURE the very beſt line of ſtages in America.

The line has now run nearly a month, during which time a great number of gentlemen have gone through, both from Philadelphia and New-York. Every paſſenger has found the road to ſurpaſs very far all that has been ſaid of its excellence; and the Proprietors of the Swift Sure are extremely happy to hear the behaviou of their drivers, and the treatment at Taverns ſpoken of with the higheſt ſatisfaction.
